Skills targeted	The module allows students to integrate all information and skills acquired previously in order to successfully complete a large-scale project at a professional level while managing the time available to them. Targeted skills include the assimilation of relevant know-how, the reliability and fluency of a methodological point of view, independence in managing the project, originality and an innovative approach, and consistency between the intention and the end product.
General learning objectives
Teaching content and form	Design of a product or range of products requiring technical and technological concepts of a high level. During this work, particular importance is attached to the depth of proposals and evidence of mature reflection. The subject is chosen with the agreement of lecturers, who ensure supervision of the project.
Forms of assessment and validation	The MAS project is assessed at the end of the semester by an international panel. To obtain credits, the student must obtain a pass mark of 4.
Remedial teaching	No remediation possible. The module must be repeated in the following months, according to procedures to be agreed with the director of the module.
